“ A Quiet Man

*My father is a quiet man
He loves the quiet things
The early morning lakes
Woods at dawn or dusk.
He enjoys the mountains, too
And happy be if he could but
Dwell at water's edge
With tallest mount behind his back
And forest all around.*

*But for today
The dream must wait
'Til all things are prepared
For above all else
This quiet man
Puts his family ahead.*

*His ways are gentle
But his character is strength
And my quiet, peaceful side
Is what I've learned from him.*

*Emotions run deep and not always smooth
When such love and caring exist
But my father – he controls them
And keeps them well secure
And unless you really know him
He can be misunderstood.*

*My father is a loyal man
And full of honesty
And bravery and tenacity is he.*

His conscience bids him

*Do his best
And others take advantage
For he does what is expected
And doesn't ever fail.*

*My father is a noble man
A man of great insight
And I'm blessed to know
And love and share
In his eventful life.*

*I'm proud to know him
And prouder yet
To be his only child.
What a shame
So few will know
The things he holds inside.
Most will only see and hear
That he's a quiet man.*

I love and miss you, Poppa.
