“ Hello to Charles Loved ones, I am oh so sorry in the passing of Charles he was a very sweet one of kind man he had a big heart, Charles and I became friends from the first time we met at Nipher I was the Activity Director / Custodian there, the first time we met he was laughing at me because of the way I talked to a student there I was giving the young man a what for because he was picking on another boy and I told if I ever caught him picking on anyone else like that again that I would call his parents up to school and take him into the gym and have every kid that he ever picked on I would let them tell his Dad and Mom what he had done to them and they got to pick his punishment and we could just see how well he enjoyed that and I didn't care if it took all night we would stay till each kid had their say and it would be on a Friday night. Charles thought it was so funny because of my southern draw and he never hard of anyone say, You got me please and thank you all in one butt chewing, Chompers and I talk a lot about hunting and fishing he used to say girl you need to get back to the country you got thees city kids believing that you will hog tie them up and spank them with a paddle ore and have their parents say it was ok to do it. he said that's why these kids all love you I think because you got them running scared. I will miss him and our talks on break very much, May God Bless you and comfort you in your time of need. "RIP my friend" Christy M. Combs

“ Charles was always a good brother. Encouraging me to be better. I will always appreciate him being my older brother. To me he taught our parents to be parents. He made my growing up easier, at least in my opinion. We will miss you much. Enjoy this next part of your eternity. Your brother Roger
