

Mr. Keith Richard Crouch

January 1, 1982 - November 6, 2018

Keith Richard Crouch was born on January 1, 1982 in St. Louis, Missouri. He passed away unexpectedly in Houston, Texas on November 6, 2018. Keith spent most of his life living in Houston. He also spent a few years in California, and at the time of his death he was a resident of Austin, TX.

Growing up Keith was a star athlete. He played basketball, football, ran track, and was an all star baseball player. He also held the #1 spot for stolen bases in the league for 2 consecutive years at age 12 and 13. During his school years he excelled in English. He was most expressive on paper, and had a passion for writing. You could often find him writing journals, and poems. He was a huge movie fan, and could appreciate various genres.

Keith was an intellectual and relished a good debate. He favored talking about concepts and ideas from multiple perspectives, over small talk. He had an analytical mind, and could spout off any kind of sports statistic. He enjoyed watching ESPN and analyzing the games almost as much as he loved to watch them. He was exceptionally charismatic, which naturally drew people to him. Keith was a tolerant person, and he was able to get along with people from different kinds of backgrounds. He treasured laughing with his family, and he had a sarcastic, dry sense of humor.

Keith's greatest joy in life was spending simple quality time with his children.

They shared many memories together including building things, science experiments, and decorating his house with their art. He liked hearing their thoughts, reading with them, playing games with them, and teaching them about the world. Passing on family traditions was important to Keith. Some of his favorite traditions were centered around Halloween. He loved watching horror movies for family movie night, picking out costumes, and going to haunted houses.

I can honestly say I thought we would see each other again one day, or at least talk on the phone, talk about how our lives ended up. You were my best friend for a long time. I know it has been a very long time since I last saw you, but I still find you in every Bush song every Audio slave song, singing at the top of your lungs, and you were a good singer. I still laugh because you fell asleep on the plane and landed in Florida, who does that, you did. Your mom was flipping out when you didn't show up, I said he got on the plane. So many memories. Im sorry for your mom and sister y'all were so close and I know you loved them with all your heart. Please help them find you in the music the same way I do. In sorry it took me so long to get here, but I felt I didn't have a right to say anything, but you have been weighing on my heart lately and I want you to know you mattered to me and I'm thankful for the time we had.
