“ I could not have asked for a better brother. We were always close even when far apart. So many stories I could tell, the times we joked and laughed with what we called the Rathmell sense of humor. The difference of opinions when it came to fixing something or a how to do it. And the typical political views that did not always coincide. But over all we always agreed "we're family" on that you could depend. Like our father, he always wanted children and loved each of them even when he didn't agree with their choices. But he would never turn them away. I learned a lot from him over the years and have been so glad to have been in his life more these past 12. It breaks my heart to loose him but I know he's in a better place. I will love him always.

“ My grandpa, or as I like to call him Pawpaw was an amazing person. One of my favorite parts of family events was walking inside and seeing him smile. When I walked up to him to say hi and give hugs he would always say “hey Andrew! Oh wait... Abby!”. He would get my name wrong but I never cared because I love him. I glad he can now walk with angels.

“ We both shared the love of the old fords, and enjoyed having lunch now and then and chatting about them. I've known Paul since about 84. We both have Model A's and Flathead fords. I also remember his novel large scale train in his backyard many years ago. One of the treasures of life is getting to know the people you come across in life. Godspeed my friend. Larry shepard

“ Although we did not really know Paul Rathmell that well, we know his eldest daughter, Christi who is loving, caring, kind, hard working and fierce. I imagine some of her strength was due to her father. We are sorry for your loss and pray that God gives you and your family great comfort as you grieve.
