“ its been almost 6 months since we all lost you. time has gotten a little better, but the pain has never gone away. I see our baby boy growing into such a wonderful child and it hurts me that you aren't actually here to watch him and encourage him to keep going. I think of all the new memories we are all about to make and the fact that ur not there to make them with us hurts more than words. I love you so much baby. I cant wait for the day we get t be together again
