“ One of two people to ever consistently call me Lenny. We meet in the summer of 1984 on Naval Air Station Sigonella Sicily. You came to me asking for assistance with the aotovon(phone) system about 1 week of being deployed with your VP squadron. I helped, you dissapeared for a month and I thought typical VP counselor, get info and never show back up. But, little did I know you made CHIEF and they had you going all over the island. When the initiation was over, you and I worked a lot together, you were not the typical VP counselor. Years past, you transferred commands and so did I. Strange though, I would be transferred to a command you were leaving. Our paths crossed many many times through the years. Even when we weren't at the same command, we kept in touch. You retired and we lost touched for 5 or 6 years. I was out of the NAVY and found out where you were. I went there and it was as if we had never lost contact.

Terry, you showed love and respect to my sons and wife. They truly loved you. You were my SHIPMATE, my mentor, my friend, but most of all "MY BROTHER."

We had some marvelous times together.

Thank you for everything!

Rest easy now, your watch is over.

Love and respect SENIOR CHIEF PRESLEY
FAIR WINDS AND FOLLOWING SEAS!

“ Damn it Ben are you retarded? Next time I get my butt chewed out because of you I'm going to get pissed off. 2 minutes later....hey buddy let's go grab some lunch. Never a dull moment working with Terry. He was a great boss, a mentor, a father figure etc. Most of all he was Terry. Never a more loyal friend. We were goofy and crass but we never let a call end without telling each other that we loved them. Till Valhalla brother.

You will forever be in my heart as my first boyfriend, and a longtime friend. You were blessed with beautiful/handsome children/grandchildren and a beautiful wife Ellen for 7 years. We will have tears here, but knowing you are in the Greatest Hands with more love and warmth than we can fathom, brings joy to my heart. Till we all meet again, may you rest in God's loving arms Wayne.

My first kiss. Freshman year at the park next to the football game. I'll miss your dms. Guess we'll have to wait a while for another kiss. The angels kiss you now as you live with our Lord in paradise. Ellen and family, my deepest sympathies.
