“ Mindy, every time I saw you around your dad I remember how sweet your relationship was with him and him with you. I am praying for your broken heart and the hearts of all of those who loved him and will feel this loss for the rest of their days. May you be blessed with little moments and signs of him still as present as ever with you in a new way. His body couldn't go on but his love for you, your family, his grandchildren will allow him to live on forever in each of you. Sending much love and prayers for peace and comfort for all of you. Love you - Cyndi
