“ I was in Mr. Darr's class of 1975 and my most memorable event came when one day after school he sat me down to explain the movements of an earthworm. Oh my God, to this day I have such a love for science, and I can still recall the movements of an earthworm. I went on to become a science teacher myself. Rest in peace you are much-loved.

“ Mr. Darr was my teacher in the 50s. His sense of humor always got me through a subject that was not a favorite with me.

“ Mr. Darr was my teacher in the 1980's. He also taught my parents and my aunts. Indeed, he used to call me 'Jean' after one of my aunts. I got so used to it that he once called me 'Karen' and I had no idea who he was talking to. I remember his wry humor, dry humor and the half smile he used for everything from a dry joke that he clearly thought was hilarious, to a grimace at the horrific odors emanating from someone's bunsen burner experiments. Well lived, Mr. Darr, and hugs to family and friends.

“ A kind man who cared about the education of his students. I feel very fortunate to have had him as one of my teachers (both in classroom and as a lab assistant). I learned a lot. My condolences.
